IMPORTANT NOTICEAll sales are FINAL, Non-Cancellable, and Non-Returnable

Due to Thomas Scientific's inability to return un-used inventory of certain products to our manufacturing partners, we must require certain limitations when these items are purchased. Transport Media, Swabs, Automation Pipette Tips, PCR Plates, and Personal Protective Equipment are all considered Final Sale, Non-Cancellable, and Non-Returnable products.

The United States of America has comprehensive economic embargoes against Cuba, Iran, North Korea, and Syria. United States law (and in certain instances, international law), prohibits exports from the United States to these countries with very few exceptions.

An example of these embargoes is the Syria Accountability and Lebanese Sovereignty Act ("SAA"), which prohibits export or re-export of virtually all products to Syria, except for food and medicine. Similar Acts apply to the other embargoed countries.

The United States Department of the Treasury prosecutes violations of a United States Government imposed embargo. Penalties for violations may include civil fines, revocation of privileges governed by the Export Administration, and/or criminal penalties of up to five times the export value of the product or one million dollars, (whichever is greater), and/or 10 years in a federal prison, for each violation. It should be noted that any person...[or company] who takes any action with intent to evade the provisions of the...[embargoes]... shall be subject to the penalties...described above.

This order was exported by or on behalf of Thomas Scientific from the United States of America to a country which is not subject to United States embargo. The products and commodities contained in this order do not include any products which fall under exceptions to the Acts governing export to embargoed countries. Diversion of this shipment to any embargoed country or re-export to same, is strictly prohibited. Acceptance of this shipment acknowledges agreement that it nor any part of it will be exported or re-exported, directly or indirectly, to any foreign country that is subject to a United States export embargo.
